Albert Joins Scientific Advisory Board of International Journal of Constitutional Law

2013 NEWS ARCHIVE

01/31/13

Newton, MA—Boston College Law School is pleased to announce that professor Richard Albert will join the International Journal of Constitutional Law's (I-CON) Scientific Advisory Board, effective immediately.

Albert, already a founding member of the scholarly blog I-CONnect (launched jointly by I-CON and ConstitutionMaking.org) is "thrilled" to be part of the Board. "I'm looking forward to working with the board in its important work," Albert says. "It's a really distinguished group of people whose scholarship has shaped the field of comparative public law."

In a letter of invitation, I-CON Editor-in-Chief J.H.H. Weiler wrote that Albert would assist with the development of the Journal "in a variety of ways—ranging from the evaluation of submissions in areas of particular expertise to working with our Editorial Board in organizing symposia as well as identifying themes for special issues."

Albert's tenure on the Board will extend for an initial two-year period.
