Rappaport Fellows Land Prestigious Post-Graduate Fellowships

2015 NEWS ARCHIVE

12/10/15

Two individuals from the 2015 Rappaport Center Fellows class have landed prestigious post-graduate fellowships in their final year of law school. Jessica Acosta-Muller and Colleen Shea, both of Northeastern University School of Law, have been accepted into the Massachusetts Attorney General's Honors Fellowship and a Skadden Arps Fellowship respectively.

Jessica Acosta-Muller is a Northeastern Public Interest Law Scholar who completed her Rappaport Fellowship at the Salem Youth Advocacy Division of the Committee for Public Counsel Services. She has now been accepted into the Massachusetts Attorney General's Honors Fellowship. The Honors Fellowship Program was established to provide opportunities for new attorneys to gain practical experience in the public sector and to enjoy the personal satisfaction of working to serve the residents of the Commonwealth. For more information about the Attorney General's Honors Fellowship, visit <http://www.mass.gov/ago>

Colleen Shea is a Northeastern Public Interest Law Scholar who completed her Rappaport Fellowship in the Governor's Office of Legal Counsel. She recently received a Skadden Arps Fellowship. The Skadden Foundation aims to give fellows the freedom to pursue public interest work. Colleen will be working at the Disability Law Center on special education issues for low-income families for the duration of this two-year fellowship. For more information about the Skadden Foundation, visit <http://www.skaddenfellowships.org/>

The acclaimed Rappaport Center for Law and Public Policy provides educational programs, career mentoring and financial support to law students interested in government and public policy. The Center focuses on public policy issues affecting Greater Boston and Massachusetts.
